MSE/XJTU is Ready to Accept International Undergraduates

The school of Materials Science and Engineering at XJTU has launched an international program with all courses taught in English and will begin accepting international undergraduate students starting in September 2025.

About MSE/XJTU

Xi'an Jiaotong University (XJTU), established in 1896, is a national key university directly administered by the Ministry of Education of China. It is one of China's top ten research universities and a member of C9 League—China's Ivy League. In 2013, XJTU was awarded by the Ministry of Education of China as the "Demonstration Base for International Education" due to its outstanding performance in international student education. It was ranked No. 10 on the 2024 Shanghai Ranking of China Mainland.

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

1. Objectives

In alignment with the global socio-economic demands for highly skilled professionals in innovative material design and intelligent manufacturing, this program is designed to nurture individuals with innovative thinking, teamwork abilities, lifelong learning skills, and the capacity to tackle complex engineering challenges. Graduates will be well-prepared to contribute to scientific research, technology and equipment innovation, management, and operational roles in materials and related fields.

2. Tuition fees and scholarships

The annual tuition fee is 180,000 RMB. All applicants are eligible to apply for scholarships, which are categorized into four levels:

- Level 1: 100% tuition waiver
- Level 2: 75% tuition waiver
- Level 3: 50% tuition waiver
- Level 4: 25% tuition waiver

Scholarships will be awarded based on applicants' application materials, academic performance in high school, and interview results.

3.

One of our international graduate students, Yasir Sohail, has recently published a research paper in Nature, one of the most prestigious scientific journals in the world. We warmly invite you to join us and strive for the same level of excellence.
